Investment Strategy

Our core thesis is predicated on our firm belief that 'everything is about to change' as digital assets become the fourth superclass of assets. As the digital currency market formalises and becomes regulated, it continues to represent a new frontier for accredited investors to seek superior risk-adjusted returns that are uncorrelated with traditional equity and debt markets.

Our experienced team brings an institutional-grade investment approach combining both quantitative and qualitative investment analysis with prudent portfolio construction to provide access to this uncharted space.

We consistently deliver reduced volatility, with uncorrelated strategies that achieve upside as the sector grows and which preserve capital in down-markets via diversification across differing systematic trading strategies.

Based on our comprehensive and rigorous due diligence process, we provide investors with access to the best global fund managers specialising in digital currency trading strategies via investment in a single, diversified Fund providing solid returns irrespective of the direction of the digital currency markets.

Fund Characteristics:

- Low correlation to global equity and debt markets.
- Access to best-of-breed global fund managers specialising in digital currency-related strategies.
- Absolute return investment objective, seeking consistent incremental growth in capital.
- A robust risk-management approach, with an unrelenting focus on capital preservation.
- Low volatility and low exposure to systemic market risk.
